CIRCULAR

Dear Colleague,

It gives me immense pleasure to inform you that the Centre for Gender Studies, Patna (India) is going to hold an International Conference on Gender Issues in collaboration with Directorate of the Bihar State Archives, Patna. This Centre got its inception in the year 2008-09 and in due course registered itself under Society Registration Act 21, 1860 (Registration No. 2209/08). The Centre has till today held five National and one International Conferences since 2010 and each has been followed by publication of the Proceedings of respective Conferences. The Centre for Gender Studies, Patna not only holds Annual Conference but on regular basis issues Journal under its aegis entitled Ithass ki Khoj Mein, since the foundation of the Centre. Along with this the Centre holds other social and academic activities from time to time.

I earnestly hope that all your colleagues, yourself included who are becoming members of the Centre for Gender Studies attend the session and contribute to its success in Gender studies which is attracting academic attention globally. It appears fairly commonsensical to us that boys, girls and the third sex ought to be distinguished not only through physical marker dress-pattern, diet mode of amusements, sports activities, etc., but also through their respective cultural and behavior pattern. Any intromissions of these conventional parameters lead one to admonish girls for behaving 'like boys' and to condemn boys for being timorous 'like girls.' The most common explanation for this prevailing attitude in the society emphasis on the fact that God or Nature has created such differentiation. While the facts of our sex- the presence of distinct male and female genitalia and reproductive organs- are incontrovertible, most of us perceptively feel that the categorising world as well as human behaviour into masculine and feminine is unwarranted. Women often question the enveloping perception of the society for not being viewed as 'autonomous being.' Likewise, men after finding themselves in deeply discriminated position compared to women in terms of the evolution of emotional happiness and pleasure question the invasive sensibility of the society which believes that they cannot be loving, nurturing and self-sacrificing as women can be. The emanating fact at various levels we more than often actively question the routine practices of gender. But unfortunately, we hardly question the fundamental premises on which these gender practices are based. We always shy away from the basic question of 'equality'.

We do not ponder about any possibility of change or transformation of the masculine and feminine attributes and similarly we hesitate to think whether men and women can coequal with each other. However, there has been a paradigm shift in the last few decades which has witnessed the beginning of a radical departure in thinking and activism, leading to the rise of various social and systematic movements. There emerged a questioning and critical scrutiny of the epistemological basis of social and cultural prevailing since Enlightenment. As a result, issues of race, gender, sexuality, etc., began to draw academic attention. In this transforming background gender studies came to occupy the prime place in academic discourses. In a bid to sensitize the society on the fundamental issues related to gender equality and to probe all critical questions the Centre from its very inception has strenuously put the questions like, 'Why are people expected to be exclusively masculine or feminine? which ways and by what means women have been rendered subordinate to men?' 'How the patriarchy has been fortified and carried forward till today?' 'What are the means to convince the society that gender-equality is a fundamental right of humanity?' etc., before the academic world in particular and the society in general. Due to its an all encompassing nature, scholars from different disciplines and fields have participated and expressed their views in the seminars, lectures, workshops, etc., organised by the Centre from time to time. We are proud to underline that people have responded very positively to our endeavour to bring gender issues in the mainstream of academic discussions.

The Third Annual National Conference on Gender Issues 2012

Patna, 1-2 September 2012

FIRST CIRCULAR

Dear Colleague

It is my great privilege and honor to invite you to The Third Annual National Conference on Gender Issues at Patna on 1st-2nd September, 2012 by the Centre for Gender Studies, Patna with a view to provide a new dimension to ongoing research and thinking in the society in this area. I cordially invite you to attend the National Conference in the historical city of 'Patliputra'. Your active participation will be highly appreciated. I am aware of the support that our members have given to our organization which enabled us to hold two successful regular sessions, the last of which was held at Magadh Mahila College, Patna on 23-24 May 2011. We are grateful to the SCERT, Patna (Bihar) for extending cooperation in organizing this conference at their campus. I earnestly hope that all your colleagues, yourself included, who are becoming members of the Centre for Gender Studies will attend the session and contribute to its success in your own unique way.

Centre for Gender Studies, Patna is a non profit organization registered under Society Registration Act 21, 1860. The society was established in 2008-09. The centre aims at promoting research, conference, seminar, lecture programs and understanding of regional and national experiences of producing, teaching and disseminating knowledge on gender for and within development institutions. The overall aim of the centre is to generate a holistic understanding and interrogation of the kinds of gender knowledge being used and the way they are produced, communicated and disseminated in research, development practice and advocacy for development in India in general and Bihar in particular. The centre acts as a forum for scholars engaged in gender studies to carry out social science oriented studies which are, to some extent, inter-regional and inter-societal comparative studies.

Objectives of the Conference :

This Conference has been organized to provide a broad forum for discussion by academicians, researchers, and NGOs. It expects

- to bridge the gap that seems to be opening between theories and practices related to gender justice
- to promote both front-line gender studies and gender studies in disciplines where progress has been slow or where strong resistance has been encountered
- to prioritize areas of research in the field of gender studies
- to promote both inter-disciplinary and intra-disciplinary gender studies

CIRCULAR

Dear Colleagues

It gives me immense pleasure to inform you that the Centre for Gender Studies, Patna (India) is going to host an International Conference on Gender Issues in collaboration with the Department of Philosophy, Magadh Mahila College, Patna University, Patna. The Centre has till today held five national conferences since 2010 and each has been followed by the publication of the Proceedings of respective Conferences.

I earnestly hope that you and your colleagues who are becoming members of the Centre for Gender Studies will attend the session and contribute to its success in your own unique way.

About the Venue: Magadh Mahila College is a premier institution for women and well known in the region for its value based education, quality teaching and discipline. Established in the year 1948, it was the first Girls College to offer teaching of the sciences. This esteemed institution has offered to host the Centre's international conference to be held in collaboration with the Department of Philosophy, Magadh Mahila College. This collaboration itself indicates that an interdisciplinary and holistic approach has been adopted towards gender issues through academic deliberations.

In its educational endeavour, the institution imparts multifaceted education to around 2000 girl students in 22 degree and diploma course in the faculty of Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Pure Science, Commerce, Business Administration and Computer Applications at different levels. The college provides extracurricular activities including sports, music, NSS, NCC, Gender Knowledge Centre, Green Earth Brigade, and Population Education Centre. The college has been re-accredited with 'A' grade in January 2013, awarded CPE status by UGC, for 2011-16 and was also recognized as the best college under the Government of Bihar on Eklasha Diwas, 2013.

Brief Sketch of the Centre for Gender Studies, Patna : Gender is everywhere. It appears fully commensurate to us that boys and girls ought to be distinguished not only through physical markers like dress-pattern, behaviour, mode of amusements, sports activities, etc., but also through their respective cultural and behavioural patterns. Any infringement of these conventional parameters lead one to admonish girls for behaving 'like boys' and likewise condemn boys for being 'strong like girls'. The most common explanation for this prevailing attitude in the society gives emphasis on the fact that God or Nature has created such differentiation. While the facts of our sex, the presence of distinctive male and female genitalia and reproductive organs- are incontrovertible, most of us perceptively feel that the categorising of the world as well as human behaviour in masculine and feminine is unwarranted. Women often question the enveloping perception of the society for not being viewed as 'autonomous beings'. Likewise, men, after finding themselves in deeply discriminated position compared to women, in terms of the evolution of emotional happiness and pleasure, question the invasive sensibility of the society which believe that they cannot be loving, nurturing and self-sacrificing as women can be. The emanating fact is that at various levels we more than often actively question the routine practices of gender. But unfortunately, we hardly raise a query about the fundamental premises which these gender practices are based. We always shy away from the basic question of 'equality of sexes'. We do not ponder about any possibility of change or transformation of the masculine and feminine attributes and roles. Similarly we hesitate to think whether men and women can be coeval with each other. However, there has been a paradigm shift in the socio-cultural

'Today's women are looking for more liberal horizon'

PATNA. What do the hit songs like Murri (husain hai darling tera lie... and Sheela (ji jwani... reflect in context of the present-day society pleading for equal status to women?

The answer is simple. Its post-modernism wave of feminist movement that has changed the scenario in the 21st century when women are searching a broader and more liberal horizon for them, said Patna University (PU) vice-chancellor, Dr Sudipta Adhikari on Monday.

Inaugurating a two-day second annual conference on gender studies organised by the Centre for Gender Studies (CGS) and hosted by department of history, Magadh Mahila College (MMC), he said while beginning of the 20th century witnessed women's movement aimed at getting their status at par with men, the succeeding era saw feminist movement yielding remarkable fruits in social and political fields. However, songs like Murri and Sheela posed a question mark on women's stride and congenial environment.

Adhikari lamented that movies and popular teleserials were presenting dominance and even portraying them differently, showing departure from the established cultural values. He said many of Indian women were forced to homely life, there

PU LIBRARY TIMINGS

Patna University Library Library will now function only for 12 hours - from 7 am to 7 pm. In some cases, it would be closed to receive mail the night and the VC Dr Sudipta Adhikari on Monday. Talking to other faculty members, he said that he was shocked to discover that, pillow and blanket during a routine visit to the library on Saturday indicating that the premises was being used for unacademic purposes. He said library is a place of learning and not for relaxing one's mind.

was need to provide them a broader geographical space to prove their merit. Dr Padmawati, the VC of BBA Bihar University stressed need for making more women at such conferences. She said unless the view of women's development reached villages there would not be justice with them. Inauguration was done by Dr. D. S. Singh, Director, Management, Accounts and Finance Office, and women students under banner inauguration.

Former professor of history, LN Mittal, University of Allahabad, stressed the history of women's movement while Dr. D. S. Singh, principal of MMC, pleaded for equality among women in the field of education. Anand Kumar, the secretary CGS said the conference on gender issues would help understand the problem in depth and also work out an action plan.

Prof. Anand Kumar, VC of history, MMC, earlier welcomed the guests. Dr. Madhusudan conducted the programme while Dr. Ramesh Kumar proposed the vote of thanks. Approximately 20 papers were presented during the two-day session.
